III. LIBGUIDES

Research assistance, subject guides, and useful resources compiled by your friendly librarians. Know what we know—find it in LibGuides!

Take special notice of LibGuides! You may have never seen them before, but they can be of great use to you. Some guides are geared toward specific academic subjects, e.g., business or nursing, while other guides show you how to use specific library services such as interlibrary loan.

LibGuides are linked from the library home page. The LibGuides that will most interest you are:

Business Resources
Sport Management
Hospitality, Sport, and Tourism Management
American Psychological Association Style
Interlibrary Loan

IV. INTERLIBRARY LOAN (ILL)

As a doctoral student, ILL is a service you will almost certainly be using.

Books and journal articles that are not available online or at your local library may be requested through Interlibrary Loan (ILL). Interlibrary Loan is a service that allows you to borrow books and photocopies of journal articles.

For ILL policies and procedures use the link “Interlibrary Loan (ILL) Policies” on the library home page.

The screenshot displays the ILLiad website interface. At the top, there is a dark red header with the Troy University logo and the tagline "A future of opportunities". Below the header, the word "ILLiad" is prominently displayed. On the left side, there is a navigation menu with the following items:

- Logoff jayb777
- Main Menu
- New Request
  - Article
  - Book
  - Music Score
  - Sound Recording
  - Thesis
  - DVD/Video
- View
  - Outstanding Requests
  - Electronically Received Articles
  - Checked Out Items
  - Cancelled Requests
  - History Requests
  - All Requests
  - Notifications

The main content area is titled "Photocopy Request" and includes a sub-header "Describe the item you want". Below this, there is a form with several input fields, each marked with a red asterisk to indicate it is required:

- * Title (Journal, Conference Proceedings, Anthology): A text input field with a note below it: "Please do not abbreviate unless your citation is abbreviated".
- * Volume: A text input field.
- * Issue Number or Designation: A text input field.
- Month: A dropdown menu.
- * Year: A text input field.
- * Inclusive Pages: A text input field.

In the top right corner of the form area, there is a small red asterisk followed by the text "* Indicates required".

V. JOURNALS

JOURNAL DATABASES

Access to TROY's journal databases is by username and password (your WebExpress username/password). Journal databases allow you to look up journal articles on a given topic. Depending on your topic, you may want to use a database with content geared toward fields such as business, criminal justice, sociology, and more. The database listings on the cover page of this guide can assist you in selecting appropriate databases.

Journal databases can be searched individually or they can be searched in groups or in combination with the Library's eBook databases and print resources collections by means the Search Library Resources search box that appears on the Library home page.

Choosing databases.

Online databases are linked from Library home page. The Databases page displays databases alphabetically, A to Z. The subject headings (on the left side of the screen), e.g., Business & Management, can be used to display databases by subject.

The Business Source Premier database is one of many excellent resources for researching Business and Management topics.

Other databases are listed on page 2 of this guide.

Sample image of the results list from a search of the Business Source Premier database.

 Add to folder

A POWERFUL TOOL (for locating the full text of journal articles).

Citation Linker is the name of a very special online tool; one that can be quickly and easily used to find out in which database a particular journal is found. Not all journals are available online—that is where the Library's Interlibrary Loan service comes in—but Citation Linker can help you locate those journals that are online. Citation Linker is linked on the Library Web site.

TIP: It is difficult, even for a computer, to track millions of articles in thousands of databases—that is a polite way of saying that Citation Linker isn't a perfect tool. If you ever feel stuck when you are trying to locate an article, just give your Global Campus Librarian a call or email, he can usually give you a definitive answer in a very short period of time.

VI. BOOKS

PRINT BOOKS

The Library's Search Library Resources search box, located on the Library home page, provides listings of print books (as well as numerous other resources). If you are not local to the library holding a print book, you may request it by Interlibrary Loan.

EBOOKS (ELECTRONIC BOOKS)

Access to TROY's eBook databases is by username and password (your WebExpress username and password). These information search tools can be accessed through the Library's online databases, which are linked from each of the TROY Libraries Web pages. Electronic books are an effective way for researchers worldwide to have instant access to high-quality materials.

eBook Collection is a large, general database of full-text academic (and non-academic) books, containing over 50,000 titles. The Ebook Library databases contain a growing number of titles, geared to the programs of Troy University.

Reference material (traditionally found in reference books) can be accessed via online databases that include Credo Reference and Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Let's do a quick show-and-tell in the eBook Collection database. From the Library home page, select Databases.

VII. WRITING

THE WRITING CENTER

The Writing Center's online address is <http://www.troy.edu/writingcenter/>. The Writing Center has guides for Research/Documentation, Special Kinds of Writing, Grammar/Mechanics, and The Writing Process. Note that several of its handouts, although not a substitute for the APA Manual, are designed to assist you with American Psychological Association writing style.

THE ONLINE WRITING CENTER: Access via Blackboard

DOCUMENTATION

The Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th edition) is the style guide used by the Sport Management programs.

For access to all of the Library's APA information and tools, look for the American Psychological Association Style LibGuide.

<http://troy.libguides.com/apa>

The APA Style Guide to Electronic References is not a substitute for the full APA Manual. The APA Style Guide is a guide to creating references (the long entries at the end of a composition) for electronic resources. The guide provides numerous examples of references (many more than those shown in the APA Manual). The APA Style Guide also presents the newest format that APA prescribes for including digital object identifiers into a reference. The APA Style Guide to Electronic References can be accessed via the Library's databases page. More information <http://troy.libguides.com/electronic>

Another resource that you may find useful is the publication Citing the World Wide Web in Style. This guide assists you in the preparation of references to material you obtain from databases such as those provide by TROY. This publication is available online in the Information and Help section of the Library Web site. Additional guides in that same area include:

- APA-style Running Head and Page Numbers: Using Microsoft Word to Format Your Paper
- Hanging Indents: Using Microsoft Word to Format Your Documentation
- Tips and Tricks for Microsoft Word

VIII. SEARCH LIBRARY RESOURCES

The Search Library Resources tool searches all of these resources at once, and then lets you limit the results. It searches:

- The Library's print book collection
- The Library's eBook collection
- Most of the Library's government document and journal databases

The basics of how to use the Search Library Resources service

The Search Library Resources box is located at the top of the Library home page. Instead of one-stop-researching, think of it as one-start-researching . . . a way to begin (and then limit) your search.

To begin, simply put in your terms and do the search:

SEARCH LIBRARY RESOURCES

ncaa and transfer rules

After you get the results list, look to the left side menu in order to tailor the results to your information needs. The following is a quick look at some of the choices.

Full Text: Means you can access the materials immediately/electronically.

Peer Reviewed: This will do two things; the nature of the information shown will be journal articles (only), and the articles will be from journals that are peer-reviewed (refereed).

Format: This is where you can limit the results to books (print, electronic, or both), articles, or any number of other formats.
